There’s no skill needed to play Roulette. It is purely a game of chance.

Voiceover:

Before we start, you should know that there’s no skill needed to play roulette. It is purely a game of chance.

And it’s simple - basic gameplay revolves around guessing what number, or colour, you think the ball will land on. If you guess right, you win!

Let’s learn a little more before we find out where this one’s gonna land, shall we? Let’s start with the chips...

You choose the value of your chips when you buy in at the table and make sure you cash out before you leave, because they only have value at that table.

PlaySmart Tip: Chips only have value at the table you bought them from. Always cash out before you leave.

Now that we have chips to bet with, let’s learn how to bet!

There are two kinds of betting in roulette – outside betting and inside betting.

Text On Screen:

PlaySmart Tip: Two main types of bets: inside and outside.

Voiceover:

Let's begin with outside bets.

Stick to outside bets for better odds of winning, but just know they offer lower payouts. And remember there are no guarantees of winning, because the result of every spin is random.

PlaySmart Tip: Outside bets offer greater odds of winning but lower payouts.

Voiceover:

With outside betting, all bets lie on the outside of the betting area.

You can bet red or black...

Evens or odds...

and high or low.

Each have 1 to 1 payouts. That means, if you bet twenty-five dollars, and win, you'll double your money! You can also make column bets right here. These pay out at 2 to 1.

Now, let's talk inside betting...

Inside betting has lower odds of winning, but higher payouts.

PlaySmart tip: Inside bets have lower odds of winning but higher payouts.

Voiceover:

The simplest bet is a "straight up". That is placing a bet on a single number, like this. A one dollar bet could win you 35 dollars.

PlaySmart Tip: Betting on a single number pays out at 35 to 1.

Voiceover:

But, you can also split two numbers...

Bet a four-number corner....

Or a street.

Now that we know what the bets are, let me ask you...is there a strategy to winning at roulette? I'll answer that one for you...there's no strategy to picking winning numbers because you never know where the ball will land. Each spin is an entirely new event and past spins don't influence future ones.

Text On Screen:

PlaySmart Tip: Each spin is a random event, with no influence on the next spin.

Voiceover:

Let's go have some fun and remember to play smart!
